

One of the Good Ones

by Maika Moulite

Although distraught, Happi is also unsettled by the way people have idealized the memory of her sister who was killed after attending a social justice rally -- why do people have to be perfect in order to be missed?

The Assignment

by Lisa M. Wiemer

Standing in opposition to a class assignment to debate Hitler's Final Solution, seniors Cade and Logan become embroiled in turmoil involving their teacher, principal, Commissioner of Education, white supremacists, and their entire community.

The Feminist Agenda of Jemima Kincaid

In her last few weeks at Northern Virginia's elite Chawton School, 18-year-old Jemima Kincaid works to up-end its patriarchal traditions and, in the process, finds the freedom she has always sought.

Take the Mic: Fictional Stories of Everyday Resistance

You might be the kind of person who stands up to online trolls. Or who marches to protest injustice. Perhaps you are #DisabledAndCute, alive and proud. Maybe you are the trans mentor that you wish you had when you were younger. This anthology features fictional stories--in poems, prose, and art--that reflect a slice of the varied and limitless ways that readers like you resist every day.

continued on back

Anger is a Gift

by Mark Oshiro

Struggling with panic attacks and grief over his father's death, high school junior Moss, in the face of a racist school administration, decides to organize a protest that escalates into violence.

Love is a Revolution

by Renee Watson

Harlem teenager Nala is looking forward to a summer of movies and ice cream until she falls in love with the very woke Tye and pretends to be a social activist.

This is My America

by Kim Johnson

While writing letters to Innocence X, a justice-seeking project, asking them to help her father, an innocent black man on death row, teenaged Tracy takes on another case when her brother is accused of killing his white girlfriend.

Hearts Unbroken

by Cynthia Leitich Smith

When Louise's boyfriend mocks Native people in front of her, she dumps him and decides to spend her senior year working on the school newspaper's major story: the school's inclusive approach to casting The Wizard of Oz has been provoking backlash in their mostly white town. As tensions mount at school, so does a romance between Lou and fellow writer Joey. But 'dating while Native' can be difficult...

Internment

by Samira Ahmed

In a horrifying near-future United States, 17-year-old Layla is forced into a camp for Muslim American citizens and begins to fight for freedom, leading a revolution against the camp's Director and his guards.

Little Brother

by Cory Doctorow

After being interrogated for days by the Department of Homeland Security after a major terrorist attack, 17-year-old Marcus, released into what is now a police state, decides to use his expertise in computer hacking to set things right.